Silly dragon. You did not enchant me thanks to my mother, she said who made me a teardrop earing so animus spells do not work on me, nothing you can do with your animus will hurt me said and stood in front of Stargazer. Nice try, she said looking at the dragons who were in her rainforest. Only your normal powers can hurt me in normal ways, and I will never reveal where my mother hid her animus objects if that's what your really looking for, because I don't even know, and only a heir in her bloodline can touch them anyways. She was quite powerful you know, but she was dissapointed that I was however, not an animus so she enchanted my earing to keep animus from doing anything from hurting me other then with there normal powers, and in this way ensured I would produce an animus for anyone but the nightwings and rainwings, as I was married to an Icewing and he lived here with me, in my home we had two eggs as my mother predicted we would, and one was thought to be an animus, both were daughters and were stolen so this is where I step in and say lay a single talon on stargazer and you are toast and coconut icecream, got that. She is mine and I choose who goes and stays in my rainforest.
